Quincy, MA (January, 2010) – When it comes to the recent real estate market, things have been interesting... to say the least. For local Quincy real estate agent, Madelene Semeria, the past few years have been filled with accomplishments and opportunity. In 2008, Madelene achieved her Bachelor's Degree in Marketing while working as a full time real estate agent. Taking 2009 head on, Madelene finished up the year as the Top Producing agent for Century 21 Abigail Adams, located in Quincy MA. 2010 will be no different as Madelene enters into her next endeavor as Broker/Owner of Quincy's newest real estate company, Red Door Real Estate.

The shift in the real estate market has given Madelene invaluable experience she feels will make her company a success. She has closely re-examined her business strategy and reset her priorities to adapt to the ever changing needs of her clients. Her resilient attitude and positive vibe is contagious and most likely may have been the biggest factor in her past successes.

"It is impossible to explain the feeling I get when I hand my clients the keys to their new home," states Madelene Semeria, Broker/Owner of Red Door Real Estate. "That is what keeps me striving, explains Madelene, "and I am excited to see what the upcoming year has in store for Red Door Real Estate."
